Dear Chris,

Gilda's Club Louisville is pleased to announce its 6th Annual "The Write Stuff" Teen Writing and Visual Arts Contest. The contest is open to all middle and high school students in Kentucky and Southern Indiana who have been impacted by cancer. Students are invited to submit their own original essay, poem, two-dimensional artwork or video. Entries can be about their own cancer diagnosis or that of a family member or friend. All are welcome to enter, including those who have previously entered.

After two rounds of judging by educators, authors, artists, community members and cancer-care professionals, the top three entries in each category will be awarded cash prizes. More importantly, teenagers also find that this exercise helps them feel less isolated in their cancer experience.

We hope "The Write Stuff" will help open a dialogue and increase awareness of Gilda's Club Louisville as a resource for anyone facing cancer, regardless of diagnosis, stage of treatment, age, gender, or socioeconomic status. Our mission is to ensure that those impacted by cancer are empowered by action, strengthened by knowledge, and sustained by community. Each of our monthly 150+ programs are offered at no cost to participants.

The link to enter – as well as electronic versions of these documents and all contest details – may be found at www.gildasclublouisville.org/WriteStuff. All entries are due no later than midnight EST, Friday, September 29, 2017.

Thank you for helping us get the word out about this important teen program. Feel free to contact me for more information at (502) 371-3038 or marycaroline@gildasclublouisville.org with "The Write Stuff" in the subject line.
